Two seconds later I kicked Biggs

in the nuts.

Product Name: PathFindIR

Description: A thermal imaging camera that boasts the ability to let you see 5-times farther than normal headlights while driving at night. It's currently the core thermal imager in BMW's Night Vision nighttime driving aid system.

In-store date: Available now.

Site: www.flir.com

Why it's cool: It lets you see the deer that's about to obliterate your car, which gives you enough time to soil yourself or take evasive action. They also have thermal imaging cameras for other environments and applications.
